

EDUCATION YOU CAN TRUST

Whole Food Practice is an independent consulting group and collaborative teaching organization made up of our core staff, affiliated mentors and eLearning presenters. We serve the education needs of healthcare practitioners and staff using the Standard Process® and MediHerb® product lines. We host seminars and webinars, develop online CEU and educational courses, provide coaching, and manage professional nutrition certification programs.

Nutritional Certifications for Practitioners & Staff

Join us for the Applied Clinical Nutrition (ACN) or the Nutritional Clinical Assistant (NCA) certification sponsored by Texas Chiropractic College. Make time for a nutritional focus and you will surely be surprised at how this manifests in your life and your practice. Earn the certification and display it proudly.

Online Education

You do everything online, so why not fill the gaps in your nutritional knowledge with targeted eLearning courses. We deliver smart, specific, and practical training right to your computer, tablet or phone. We also offer continuing education credit courses, as well as professional development and complimentary programs.

Our staff, speakers and mentors are all dedicated practitioners from a variety of healing arts. They bring their passion, talent and keen eye for patient evaluation and natural solutions to every seminar, webinar, online course, and conversation.

We welcome their knowledge, resources and ability to share true nutritional education and wisdom.
